

Welcome Beach Party – Nago October 8th 2016

Welcome Party

Starting in the day around 2 pm JETs could choose to stay in Nago for a chill beach and snorkeling day, or hike some waterfall in Ogimi. A few stayed at the beach while a fair number went up to the falls. I was working so I can only provide secondary insights on these sections of the day. Then in the evening, began the beach party with pizza and marshmallows. Unfortunately, I did not take note of the final number of people in attendance. I have laid out the costs below.

Expenditures	Cost Breakdown
Beach Equipment Rentals	¥4000
Pizza & Marshmallows	¥2,4579
Total	¥2,8579

Summary

I wasn't the only one working that day, so like me many if not most people arrived at night for the beach bonfire part of the party. While the variety of pizza was great, a lack of table and plates made distributing said pizza a bit slow and difficult with a few of us having to stack and re-stack the boxes every time we wanted to open one. We managed to make it work but it could have been done better. The pizza was pretty good and the price was reasonable. However, a lack of sticks or pokers made roasting marshmallows and difficult and hot experience. I was also told in the day time that the beach rentals were difficult to transport, set up, and were hardly used.

	In Account	In Float (¥Yen)	In Float ($USD)
Pre-Beach Clean-up	¥15,0878	¥5857	$5.40
Post-Beach Party Balance	¥12,1773	¥6278	$5.40
Current Balance after furikomi test	¥12,2773	¥6278	$5.40

I removed ¥2,9000 from the account to pay for welcome party. After everything was paid for I added the remaining ¥421 to the float. Also minus ¥108 banking cost and plus ¥3 for some other banking reason. To make furikomi PDFs we had to send test money to the account. For my furikomi test I removed my furikomi money directly from the account to return to mine. I now owe Kikaha ¥1378 (¥1000 furikomi and ¥378 bank fee for his test furikomi)

Treasurers' thoughts moving forward

- We didn't need the beach rental equipment (plus it was a hassle), instead plan for more adventure activities since many people enjoyed the hike.
- Less cheese pizza! With what it seemed like half the pizza to be straight cheese we could have faired better with more vegetarian, or meat options. Also need to find a better way to distribute food at a beach party. Perhaps rent a table and buy some paper plates.
- Could have used more wood, coolers, roasting sticks, and tarps for sitting.
